

---

Seattle theme camp has openings

Posted by Bold - 2011/06/20 17:37

---

The Poisoned Palacetheme camp has openings for Burning Man 2011. We are a highly organized, low drama camp. We have excellent placement 3:30 & avenue B, a couple blocks from the Esplanade, ranger station, medics, and Arctica. We are a tea house by day and do karaoke at night. We have the coolest song selection on or off the Playa. Check our calendar to see the other activities we have lined up this year.

The Palace seeks to foster community. We have a relaxed inviting space that people revisit throughout the event. The new karaoke venue is a pair of conjoined geodesic domes, our public chill space is a shade parachute with lots of comfy papasan chairs. Our private area includes a well-equipped 16x32 kitchen, BBQ grill, diesel generator, hot shower, porta potty, and more.

Our camp members are easy-going but committed. Everybody pitches in with loading gear in the truck, camp setup, breakdown, and gear load-out. The Palace is up and running before the gates open to the public so we can watch the city grow from the very beginning. Our camp dues cover food, water, porta pottie, transportation of camp and personal gear, electricity, and more.

We're not looking for people to camp at The Poisoned Palace. We're looking for people to camp with The Poisoned Palace. Can you dig it? If you are a virgin this might be the camp for you, with over 30 years of combined Burning experience. Come learn from veterans who leave no trace and believe in the sense of community that the Playa offers.

If you're interested, contact us. If not, have a terrific Burn and come visit us on the Playa!

<http://www.burningmanseattle.com/images/fbfiles/images/camp.jpg>

=====

Re:Seattle theme camp has openings

Posted by Bold - 2011/07/17 08:48

---

Make sure to check out our karaoke song list and stop by on Playa to sing some tunes!

=====

theme camp still has openings

Posted by Bold - 2011/08/02 01:43

---

Just updating this thread so it appears above the spam threads. We've still got room in our camp if you're looking for a theme camp and want to have & help create a great experience on the Playa!

=====